BATTALION

CSM - COMMAND SERGEANT MAJOR CARPENTER

Our Wildcat Battalion has been busy this November. We have been involved in many events at our school. We did a Color Guard for every home varsity football game and for the Millbrook National Honor Society Induction. We have also done events within our own battalion. We completed a food drive by putting boxes all around the school for canned food donations. We hosted this food drive to provide meals to Millbrook families who normally wouldn't have a home cooked meal on Thanksgiving. We were able to provide 14 meals to these families.

Raider Competition 11/8

We also hosted a Raider Competition at Millbrook.

We had a total of four schools competing: Millbrook High School, Garner High School, Knightdale High School and Wake Forest High School. They participated in 5 different events: modified pt test, a 5k run, rope bridge, truck pull and litter carry. We took First Place overall in this competition. We also helped the Garner High School Battalion with their fundraising event. We supported them in their pizza fundraiser and in return they brought cans for our Food Drive.

The last event the Wildcat Battalion hosted was our Battalion Org Day. One of our cadets was in charge of planning the events for the whole day. Each company competed against each other to win the Honor Company Streamer, which Charlie Company won. We took a field trip to the Airborne and Special Operation Museum in Fayetteville, N.C. to learn about the history and legacies of the museum as a Battalion. The final event our Battalion participated in for the month was the Raleigh Christmas Parade, in which we marched and called cadences.

Org Day 11/10

Cadets from Alpha in formation during the start of Org Day

Throughout the month of November Alpha has continued to grow as a family. We took a field trip to Fort Bragg to learn about the history behind Airborne. During the middle of the month we hosted a Battalion organizational day, which pushed us to further unite as the smallest company. Even though we did not win, we had fun. We also collected canned and non perishable food items to give families a chance at a thanksgiving meal. As we end the month, Alpha will continue to push through and test the waters for the rest of the battalion.

BRAVO COMPANY

COMPANY COMMANDER - CAPTAIN VANDERMEER

As a company we have been able to come closer and closer with one another. We have been able to start our rifle PT during one of our PT's for the month. The amount of effort was amazing despite everyone knowing it was the last day before the weekend, they pushed through the pain and did an amazing job. In the beginning of the month Bravo cadets did a color guard for football, with majority being LET 1s.

Christmas Parade 11/19

Cadets coordinating each other before they start marching

Charlie Company throughout this month have become well balanced with the events and exercises put out towards them. They have practiced their marching, cadence's and Pt's. They've showed and evolved their skills to which the Christmas parade came, the cadets we're clean and loud. Within the classroom, Charlie's cadet's have been working on their portfolios, and class work and helping each other learn certain subjects and sharpening their skills.
